Buildings in the Range of the Seismic Disturbance.

EL CENTRO, MEXICALI AND CALEXICO CENTERS OF A SEISMIC DISTURBANCE.

From Ten to Fifteen Lives Reported Lost as the Result of Panics, Collapse of Buildings and Fires in Wake of Temblors—Great Irrigation Projects Unscathed by Shocks Felt from San Diego, Cal., to Yuma, Ariz.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, June 22.—Rocked in a succession of severe temblors practically every business building in El Centro was damaged tonight. The loss is estimated over $1,000,000. Although roofs fell and walls crumbled into rooms filled with people not one fatality resulted. Almost simultaneously with the first shock fire broke out to add to the roll of destruction.

Calexico, Cal., and Mexicali, Mex., on the international boundary, were also hit by the earthquake that began a little after 8 o'clock this evening. In Mexicali from ten to fifteen lives are reported to have been lost and a score or more persons injured. Calexico and Mexicali probably suffered worse than El Centro.

As far as can be learned, the shocks were severest down at the border and below the border and grew less and less the farther north it came, so that Calipatria and Niland appear to have been injured slightly; less than the towns in the south end of the valley.

The earthquake extended all the way from San Diego, Cal., to Yuma, Ariz.

EL CENTRO IN DARKNESS.

At midnight El Centro is a darkened city. On either side of the business streets are ruined buildings, some completely razed, others opened by gaping holes. Broken glass of the display windows covers the sidewalks. In the gutter are the bricks and debris fallen from above. The streets are closed to automobiles, and pedestrians are warned to keep in the center of the street.

On the lawn in the residence district are the cots of residents with only the sky as the roof. In the industrial district the firemen are still fighting a fire.

THE FIRST SHOCK.

The first shock came at 8:05. It was slow and prolonged. A moment later came a short and sharp temblor. Those outside heard a warning rumble, then the shocks, immediately followed by an explosion in the warehouse of the Delta Mercantile Company which lighted the entire countryside. In the moving picture theaters a small panic ensued yet singularly no serious injury resulted. In the magnificent new Barbara Worth Hotel the glass and plaster crashed down. In the Baldrige drug store, the west side of the Security Savings building, a two-story structure caved into the drug store filled with people. All raced to the street. Every building was disgoring similarly. In the residences, dishes, cupboards and all movable furniture was tumbled down. In the stores shelves were dumped down, roofs caved, sides fell out and through the whole mass to the center of the street rushed inmates.

The interests of W. F. Holt are badly damaged. The Holton Power Company plant is damaged, one of the gas tanks is leaning similarly to the Tower of Pisa. The Holt-lee plant is cracked. The side of the Holt plant is cracked open. The building of the Imperial Valley Baking Company, another Holt enterprise, is demolished. The warehouse of the Globe Mills, full of sacks of barley, burst at the sides and the roof sagged. The Masonic Temple building is opened so that one may see through the roof and part of the floor having fallen.

The Calexico Cotton and Oil Company building is a wreck, the brick buildings of the Broadway Garage and Hermon Brothers buildings were shaken out. The roofs of the local newspaper buildings caved in and there is not a building but what received some damage.

With the first temblor attaches of the Sheriff's office rushed out into the open. Some of the walls about it were falling. Fearing for the safety of the jail, an old two-story brick structure, the deputies

SERIOUS ITALIAN REVERSES; AUSTRIANS HOLD THE HEIGHTS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via London) June 22.—Despatches from the Italian front report serious reverses experienced by the Italians during the last four days in their attempts to storm the Austro-Hungarian line along the Isonzo River, a few miles from the Italian frontier.

The attacks, the reports say, were preceded by three days of terrific artillery bombardment. The Italians then in thick lines of skirmishers, one behind another, charged repeatedly up the heights, the summits of which were held by the Austrians. Only to be moved down by rifle and machine gun fire.

The attacks were repeated six times in two days and each time the cliffs from positions utterly inaccessible to the enemy. The infantry positions are similarly blasted into the face of the cliffs and are virtually impassable. The Italians on this front are devoting their efforts to bringing up heavy artillery and the building of roads, and therefore have not launched a vigorous offensive.

(BY WIRELESS AND A. P.)

BERLIN (via wireless to Bayville, N. Y.) June 22.—A dispatch from Lugano, Switzerland, says that Gen. Cadorna, Italian Chief of Staff, has officially admitted, for the first time, heavy losses in the fighting on the Isonzo front near Piava.

RUSSIANS QUITTING GALICIA; ABOUT TO EVACUATE LEMBERG.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AUSTRIAN HEADQUARTERS, June 22 (via London, June 22).—Despite the Russian resistance, the general Austrian advance in Galicia continues at the normal daily pace. The Austro-German troops have swept through the advanced Russian positions before Lemberg, and are now within artillery range of the city.

The Russians along the whole line are abandoning as much Galician territory each day before the energetic offensive as their infantry can cover in twenty-four hours' marching. The normal rate of this advance has been checked only on the lower San River. The Russians here defended the Sieniawa positions against the assaults of Archduke Joseph's army until the last possible moment, and retired only when the front further to the south had been broken. Their tenacity enabled the disrupted troops to the southwest to make a fairly creditable retreat to the fortified lines some distance in the rear.

As a consequence, however, a big hole has been opened between the PETROGRAD, June 22 (via London).—With the Russians opposing their Austro-German antagonists on a line six miles from Lemberg, according to the most recent information reaching Petrograd, it is unofficially considered here that the evacuation of the Galician capital cannot now be avoided without a sacrifice of men out of proportion to the strategic importance of the place.

The evacuation of Lemberg as a base already has been accomplished in good order. The hospitals and the government institutions have been removed. The Russian positions before the city, consisting of a comprehensive

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The Russians admit they are about to evacuate Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, and as the Germans and Austrians are within cannon range, it is almost safe to infer that Lemberg has fallen by this time, though no official confirmation has been received.

The weather seems to be interfering seriously with the Italian campaign, according to reports from allied sources. The deadlock in the west is about the same as it was a month or more ago.

The Mexicans are trying to argue the Americans out of the proposed determination to land marines on the West Coast of Mexico to rescue Americans in the Yagui Valley. Washington believes that the split of the Mexican factions is keener than ever, though the press agents of the revolutionists are reiterating that they are about to get together.

WILSON UNPREPARED FOR CRISIS IN HAITI.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 22.—As a result of the French cruiser Descartes having landed marines at Cape Haytien to protect foreign interests there, the Navy Department today ordered the armored cruiser Washington from Vera Cruz to the Haytian port in order to safeguard the Monroe doctrine.

It was admitted today that the United States had been caught unprepared by the emergency at Cape Haytien due to fighting between government and rebel troops. No ship was available in Haytian waters to send a landing force ashore and the French commander did not stand on ceremony, but put his marines on the beach promptly. The naval yacht Eagle was supposed to be observing the Haytian situation, but had gone to Guantanamo to coal. It was admitted today, however, that the Eagle would have been of no use had she been at Cape Haytien Sunday, as her main battery consists only of three-pounder guns and her crew is too small to permit of any adequate landing force to be sent ashore.

As a result of the French having landed men, it became necessary for the United States to send a bigger ship and an officer of higher rank than the Descartes and her commander. Consequently Admiral Caperton, commanding the squadron on the east coast of Mexico, is taking his flagship to Hayti up that on his arrival, by virtue of seniority, he will be able to take charge of the situation.

SITUATION HOPELESS.

It is said that the French will promptly withdraw and Admiral Caperton will thank them for their services in the interests of the American and other foreign properties. In official quarters the Haytian situation is pronounced absolutely hopeless, but there are as yet no signs that President Wilson has made up his mind to take any drastic action with regard to it. The situation is even worse than it was a year ago, when the administration had under consideration proposals for strong measures in Hayti, which would put an end to the revolutions there and restore the reign of law and order. The government was at the time under some pressure from Germany, but the war in Europe convinced officials here that there would be no further anxiety about Hayti from that quarter.

In recent months, however, the French and German governments have renewed their interest in Haytian affairs and have not waited for the United States to lead the way. The present government headed by Guillaume Sam, which the United States refused to recognize, has been recognized by the French and German governments and has also been supplied with money by European business interests in Hayti. A recent report to the State Department stated that the government would be absolutely powerless within less than two months and that its collapse seemed certain.

Americans in Mexico in Danger of Massacre if United States Intervenes

HATE OF THE "GRINGO"
ACUTE BELOW BORDER.Five Thousand of Our Citizens Taking
Chances to Save Their Property.Most of the Business Men in Land of the Montezumas Recognize that Their Opportunity for Escape will be Slim if American Troops Ever Cross the Rio Grande.
[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 22.—They call it "The Gringo Hate." It is a well-known, living, breathing thing, sometimes dormant, but never extinct. It is ever smoldering when it is not in flame. It never dies out. It is ever ready to blaze up. It is admitted and recognized and cultivated.

That is the feeling Mexicans have toward Americans. For obvious reasons it does not appear in the diplomatic notes that reach Washington from the various revolutionary parties. On state occasions or in formal negotiations, especially where recognition by the United States is the desired object, it is replaced by suave Latin politeness.

It may be said to the credit of the Mexicans that he holds but little of the unreasonable prejudice against the Jew. The negro comes in for perfect equality among the lower classes. The Chinaman is envied for his ability to save money and the Spaniard is disliked because he belongs to a nation that once ruled Mexico.

But the American is hated.

ORIGIN OF TERM.

The reason may be found in history and in the business successes of some Americans who have made fortunes in the republic. The reputed origin of the term "gringo" dates back to the war between the United States and Mexico. The word is supposed to mean "grillero" in Spanish, but the origin of the application carries a different meaning.

Associated with the Mexican story, the United States soldiers who invaded the republic in 1846 wore uniforms in which the dominant color was green. In the dispatches sent back by the Mexican soldiers who went to meet the invaders it was declared that the Americans had been put to flight. Consequently it was said of the soldiers in green that they had run. From this came the term "gringos" or "green goes." The fact that the history of the war does not bear out the story detracts none from the belief the Mexicans hold.

It is estimated that there are about 500 American citizens living in the interior of Mexico today. They know what the gringo hate is. In their sojourn in the republic they have experienced it every day. The same hate that greets them when they enter the United States suddenly decides to invade Mexico. Mexicans have been driven from their homes and have been chased from their possessions in a year ago last April when United States troops landed in Vera Cruz.

FEW AMERICAN WOMEN.

There are but few American women in the republic. Most American citizens live there have not their families north of the Rio Grande. These Americans have been afraid to leave their homes and children to the mercy of the gringo hate that will blaze up upon intervention. They themselves remain to give what small protection they can give to their property interests.

The State Department in Washington has issued numerous warnings to these citizens to leave the republic. The fact that about $500 out of more than several hundred thousand still remain in spite of the warnings is explained by them on the grounds that the warnings have not been given with a view to protecting the Americans, but, rather to prevent the administration from being drawn into a war with Mexico. After the various warnings from Washington the administration took no action that increased the danger, so the warnings have not been taken seriously.

AMERICAN POSITION.

It is easy for Washington to issue warnings. It is not so easy to leave. An American manager of an interior light and power company told me: "But the things which are here built up with our lives and sweat are located here. Our homes are here, our work is here, our children have been born here. Everything we have in the world is here. We cannot leave, unless it is absolutely necessary to save our lives."

DENIALS BY MEXICANS
FAR FROM CONVINCING.United States Officials at Washington Still Believe Breach Between Obregon and Carranza is not Healed and that Defection of Angeles from Villa is an Important Military Loss.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Denial of friction in the Carranza ranks and of dissension among the Villa leaders were repeated today by the respective agencies of the Mexican factions.

United States officials had no reports from their own representatives, but the belief still prevailed that the trouble between Gen. Obregon and Carranza had not been healed and that the defection of Gen. Felipe Angeles from the camp of Gen. Villa at this time was an important military if not political loss.

Gen. Angeles did not pass through here en route to Boston. Information is meager as to his plans, though rumors are current that he really is in the United States, where he is prominent Mexican plans for the inauguration of a new movement that would have as its nucleus the Villa-Zapata troops.

According to official information, Carranza refused to take the advice of Gen. Obregon and accepted the resignation of some of the Cabinet minis-

Carrothers. "We have no fight between us. We are all brothers."

"Yes, but you might turn," said the boy.

The incident gives some idea of how deep-rooted the feeling is. It may be that good treatment and useful examples can overcome this hatred, but there are few American residents of Mexico who believe that anything but years of association and education can eliminate it.

THE GRINGO A VICTIM.

The Mexican peasant has long been a victim of caste. He has been in the lowest class, and has suffered the abuse and harshness that is the lot of the despised inferior. It is hard for him to understand good treatment, much as he might appreciate it.

The gringo-hate has the characteristics of all racial prejudice. It is founded on that provincial pride, sometimes misnamed patriotism, that makes the people of one geographical partition feel they have reason to despise those of another. It is the child of ignorance that demands two playthings, something to fear and something to hate. It worships the first and knifes the second.

CHIHUAHUA FIRE
DESTROYS MARKETAUTHORITIES AT JUAREZ DENY
TWO HUNDRED WOUNDED WERE BURIED.

EL PASO (Tex.) June 22.—Gen. Tomas Obregon, commanding officer at Juarez, admits that a fire last night at Chihuahua destroyed the city market. A report that a hospital building at Chihuahua also was destroyed and more than 200 wounded burned was received here, but authorities in Juarez denied knowledge of such an occurrence.

Military and civil authorities declined to discuss the arrival today of 300 wounded from the south. They gave the impression that the wounded were from battles of several days ago.

A private message received in Juarez stated that fighting had been resumed Sunday night south of Leon and that Gen. Villa planned to leave Lagos today to take active command of the operations.

The Carranza agency made public a message from Vera Cruz stating that "Constitutional troops were waiting in the suburbs of Mexico City the outcome of military operations to the south and the arrival of food supplies for the people." The Vera Cruz advance also quotes Gen. Obregon as repelling many desertions from the Villa army in the vicinity of Lagos and saying:

"Histo to the nation strikes the keynote of every patriotic Mexican heart."

Communication behind him to Vera Cruz is cut. This development is regarded as ominous in official quarters. The Carranza authorities at Vera Cruz claim the lines were cut by the defection of Gen. Felipe Angeles from the United States to the authorities in Mexico City and Vera Cruz as well, insisting that the lives and interests of foreigners must be protected in connection with any transfer of authority in the capital. It is not yet known whether the Villa-Zapata troops, said to number 10,000 in Mexico City, will offer resistance to Gen. Obregon or evacuate peacefully as has been the case on previous occasions when the city has changed hands.

TO THE NETHERLANDS.

Order in Council is Soon to be Issued Which Will Put Check on All Goods on Route with Exception of Those Consigned to Overseas Trust.

ST. ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. LONDON, June 22.—An order in Council is about to be issued prohibiting exportation of all goods to Holland except those consigned to The Netherlands Overseas Trust. This is expected to stop the trade now believed to be passing through Holland into Germany.

Announcement to this effect was made in the House of Commons today by Capt. E. G. Prentiss, Parliamentary under secretary to the Board of Trade.

Exportation of goods to The Netherlands Overseas Trust would be equivalent to a guarantee that no goods, either in the form received or in subsequent form, would reach a country hostile to Great Britain.

Capt. Prentiss made the announcement in introducing the "customs exportation restriction bill."

He explained that the sooner the trade now passing through Holland into Germany was stopped, the better it would be for the interests of England. The bill would enable the extension of similar control over the exportation of other neutral countries.

Provision is made in the bill for a fine of £1000 or imprisonment for two years for violation of its terms. Covered by the bill are all ships and all cargo.

Mr. Prentiss said it was proposed not only to regulate the number of ships but also to regulate the cargo. He said that the bill would be a careful record of the amount of each article going to certain countries and to the ports of the world.

FIGHTING AT "THE LABYRINTH" DURING
BY OFFICIAL OBSERVER.French, Inch by Inch, Force the Germans Back Great Coat Capture the District After Nearly

the Heavy Guns.

Paris June 22.—The fighting from May 30 to June 19 resulting in the conquest by the French of the system of works and trenches which the soldiers call "the labyrinth" is described today in a dispatch from an official observer at the front. The "labyrinth," lying between Neuville St. Vaast and Bourcy, formed a salient of the German line and its position, a strong one, was greatly reinforced from time to time.

"French attacks on May 3 and 4 thereafter failed to modify the situation," the observer writes. "The French decided to finish things and the order was given to take the labyrinth, inch by inch."

"This meant an operation of two principal phases, of different nature. It was necessary, first, by well-prepared and vigorous assaults, to end a footing in the enemy organization, and then to progress to the interior of the communicating trenches, in repulsing the enemy step by step. These two operations lasted more than three weeks and resulted in complete success."

The débouché must have been difficult as numerous German batteries, composed of seventy-seven-millimeter guns, the 150, 210, 240 and even 280-millimeter guns, concentrated their fire. They were stationed at Givency, LaFolle, at Thelonne, Fervins and elsewhere, south of Arras. Nevertheless our men undertook and prepared to do their duty. It was May 26 that the assaults began, our regiments marching out from different points. Their order was admirable. The débouché was accomplished.

"Everywhere except on the right we captured the first line. Behind this were a great number of barbed-wire entanglements and some of these while others stopped us. One hundred and fifty prisoners, surprised in their holes by the furious charge of the French infantry, fell into our hands."

"From this moment the war of the communicating trenches began. There were trenches of Van Knick, of Buisseret and of the delta des Petites, with other countless innumerable numbered works having a feeling of unbroken continuity. The order was to proceed to the interior of the labyrinth, inch by inch."

"Without a stop from May 30 to June 17, they fought on this ground, full of big holes and black with mud. The combat never ceased, either day or night. The attacking element, constantly renewed, crushed the Germans with hand grenades and demolished their earth barricades. There was not an hour of truce nor instant of repose. The men were under a sun not hot in the trenches that they fought bareheaded and in their shirt sleeves."

"On each of these bloody days there were acts of incomparable heroism. The enemy's artillery continued firing miles out of the front lines without interruption. Our guns answered it with a vengeance."

"The French continued the Chief of Staff contains no express prohibition of establishments of a permanent nature, of race, color or religion, but the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which was adopted in 1901, and which has since been amended, contains no such prohibition."

Earthquake.

took out the prisoners under guard and transferred them to the City Jail, a safer building. Five chose to remain behind. Immediately following the first shocks Sheriff Meadows organized an armed guard. Five men were arrested for loitering. The guard is on all night.

In passing through the Courthouse, Mrs. Mary Smith, matron of the jail, was struck by a brick. At Brawley the High School was slightly damaged. At Imperial one side of the McHenry Theater is leaning inward. It is reported here that the Globe Mills warehouse at Calipatria burned.

AT CALEXICO.
In Calexico the Daum Building collapsed, and every window in the town was broken. The City Trustees were in session in the Masonic Temple and when the earthquake began rocking the building, they all rushed into the street. The building was badly damaged, and will have to be entirely replastered.

At Heber the First National Bank and the Heber Hotel buildings were badly cracked. A moving-picture house was nearly totally wrecked, and Pearl Emery, one of the spectators, suffered a broken foot in the scramble to the street.

Just outside of Heber, on the ranch of I. A. Morgan, a wealthy capitalist, a lamp was overturned in the dining room and the house was entirely consumed. The home of John Setta, a well-known local physician, and occupants, as if by a miracle, all escaped injury.

PANIC IN MEXICALI.
In Mexicali a panic prevailed. Gamblers and the women who make up the greater portion of the population of the place rushed to the streets. The gambling-houses were deserted like magic and piles of gold were left on the tables, to be rocked off and mixed up with the debris of the buildings.

Most of the houses in Mexicali are of flimsy construction and offered but little resistance to the wavering earth. The soldiers on duty there were quickly assembled and martial law was declared. This had the effect of preventing anyone from crossing the American line, and tonight it is impossible to tell just how bad the place was hit. Reports, however, state that from ten to fifteen persons were killed and more than a score injured.

The temblor did no damage north of El Centro. Brawley felt it, but indistinctly. San Diego also felt two shocks, but no damage was done there. The first shock occurred at 8:05, and lasted about forty-five seconds. The second came about an hour later, but was less severe.

THE LIGHTS EXTINGUISHED.
In this city the lights were all extinguished a second or two after the first shock, due to the breaking of the power lines to the Holton power-house. Every telegraph and telephone line into the city was torn down, and communication with the outside world was broken off for more than two hours.

One feature is the absence of any reports of breaks in the great levee system of the valley. These levees extend throughout the entire agricultural districts, or practically from Valand on the north, far below the Mexican line, but no one has reported any damage to them.

DISHES RATTLE IN SAN DIEGO.
SAN DIEGO, June 22.—An earthquake shock at 8:02 p.m. and another at 8:58 p.m. shook the china on the shelves of San Diego households and shook up the town generally, but did no damage. Reports here are that the quake hit the Imperial Valley hard. All communication between here and Imperial Valley was cut off after the first shock.

SMALL SHOCKS ARE STILL FELT.
EL CENTRO, June 22.—At 2 o'clock this morning small shocks are still being felt. They have continued at sporadic intervals since the first shock. With each, persons who have ventured into buildings rush out. Those persons who slept in rooming-houses are stretched on the sidewalks tonight. Those in the residence section are sleeping out on cots. A small crowd is walking the streets.

One of the finest buildings in the city practically wrecked by the earthquake. The roof and part of the floor caved in, and the building will have to be rebuilt. When the first shock came the City Trustees were holding a meeting, and all made a wild dash to the street for safety.

No Damage.

IMPERIAL FEELS SHOCKS, BUT DAMAGE IS SLIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

IMPERIAL, June 22.—Damage caused here by two earthquakes shocks early this evening was slight. The first shock was at 8:03 and the second twenty minutes later. The second was far more severe. It shattered the wall of a theater building, 80 feet as known no one was hurt. The town is in darkness; the cause of the failure of lights is not known. Motorists who passed through Heber after the shocks report considerable damage there. The wall of a bank was cracked and several buildings shaken down. Several persons were reported injured, but this cannot be confirmed. Nothing has been heard at this place from Niland. The shock was heaviest along the border and seems to have been lighter at all places further north. Nothing has been heard from the ditches or levees, though it is reported irrigation officials have left to inspect them. Probably the condition of these will be known by morning.

TEN TO FIFTEEN DEAD, IS REPORT FROM CALEXICO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, June 22.—(From the manager of the Western Union Office.)—Several violent shocks were felt here early in the evening and lesser tremors continued at intervals till 10 o'clock. The shocks lasted several minutes at intervals of ten seconds. A severe shock at 8:55 p.m. tumbled buildings into the street and from ten to fifteen persons were killed or injured, as far as could be learned at 10 p.m. Two fires which broke out after the 9 o'clock quake were under control an hour later. DOCTORS REPORTED SHOT. [BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] EL CENTRO, June 22.—At one o'clock this morning a stage driver arriving from Mexicali says that the Owl dance and gambling hall was demolished and that seven men were shot for attempted looting. The telephone service being interrupted, the story cannot be verified at this hour.

Miss Craft, the talented Prima Donna Lyric Soprano of the Munich Royal Opera, has been chosen to create the role of "Rosamund" in the prize opera, "Fairyland," July 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

Of the prima donnas who have acquired fame in Europe, not one has attained greater popularity than Marcella Craft—"California's Own Queen of Song." Miss Craft always insists on having the triumphantly supreme Chickering Piano whenever she appears in recital. The Chickering Piano has been selected as the official piano by the American Opera Association and by the local Biennial Board of the National Federation of Musical Clubs. In a recent letter Miss Craft says:

Gentlemen:-

The full rich tone of the Chickering is at all times a pleasure to listen to, and when I can, I always secure the Chickering for my recital work.

It is so easy to sing by-- always sustaining the voice.

Yours very truly

TALK BRIEFLY
AND TO POINT.No Cumbrous Addresses on Realty Programme.Many Phases of Business of Land Dealing Treated.Stoddard Jess Cheered for "Golden Rule" Speech.

Stoddard after pleasure was the order of things for the delegates to the big national realty convention yesterday morning. Monday evening and a bit of the wee, small hours of Tuesday had been passed by most of the visiting delegates in their various accommodations of the Forty-ninth mining camp at Shrine Auditorium. No "morning-after" yawns, however, were observable in the convention throng.

The speaking programme of the eighth annual convention of the national association marks a departure from previous years in that the realty men of the country in that it is not given up entirely to lengthy papers and addresses. The plan this year has been to have a few talks of from twenty to thirty minutes and many discussions of general interest to the profession provided over by experts.

Stoddard Jess Weaver, who presided over the Monday sessions in the absence of President Shalcross, was relieved from this duty yesterday morning. The head of the great realty organization was greeted with cheers as he took the gavel and tapped for order.

There is a general feeling of satisfaction and relief among the visiting and local realty men over the happy termination of the temporary illness of Mrs. Shalcross, whose unexpected absence at St. Louis, while on the way to Los Angeles, kept her husband from arriving at the convention in time for the opening. This was evinced both by word of mouth and in the enthusiasm which marked the demonstration for President Shalcross.

One disappointment awaited the delegates in the absence of J. C. Bradway of Detroit, who was to have led a discussion on "Listing Agreements," a subject of great and growing interest in the realty men of the country. As Mr. Bradway's paper had not arrived, the discussion was given up and the programme moved forward to the next item, a discussion on "Real Estate Board Publicity," led by Stanley MacMichael, secretary of the Cleveland Real Estate Board.

VALUING OF PROPERTIES.
Mr. MacMichael urged upon all realty boards the great value of proper publicity. The efforts being made by the organized real estate men to elevate and uphold their profession, he declared, would be misinterpreted unless the public knows about them. He asserted that the important newspapers of the country were more than willing to print all the real news of progress in real estate and development lines, and that it was impossible to ask them to print anything else. Co-operation between realty boards and the press, he said, was the thing which thoughtful men in both fields desired.

The "Relation of the Bank to the Real Estate Man" was discussed by Stoddard Jess Weaver, secretary of the First National Bank of this city. Mr. Jess's address was a polished effort and covered both practical and ethical lines, being full of sound, common sense as well. At its conclusion the delegates showed their enthusiasm and appreciation by rising to their feet and cheering.

"The Golden Rule is today playing a big part in business," said the speaker. "Business men are more and more remembering the week day, to keep it holy. We are doing unto others as we would be done by today, both because it is right and because it pays."

Mr. Jess praised the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges as an organization which is the upholder of the highest standard of business conduct. By fearlessly enforcing its codes of business ethics, he declared, the organization was doing real work of wide influence for good.

"In both the banking business and the real estate business," he said, "the lack of stringency seems to be out and in reach of the individual who would exploit his fellow-man." The better men of both professions, he asserted, were working together and would continue to work together for the right conduct of business in both fields. Such co-operation, he said, was natural, owing to the community of interests as between the two callings of banking and real estate.

"Let the real estate men plan and develop," said Mr. Jess in conclusion, "actuated always by an inspiration to achieve, rather than to get, and ever mindful of the effect that the character of the development they do will have on the future."

"Let the bankers," he added, "co-operate and encourage development to the extent that conservatism will permit, ever remembering that the business of the real estate man promotes activity and that activity brings prosperity to all."

FROM SEATTLE.
The subject of "Real Estate as an Investment" was to have been discussed under the leadership of Edwin Selvin, financial and real estate editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, but, owing to his absence, was taken up by Samuel Collier, a Seattle realty man and vice-president of the national association. Col. Collier before reading Mr. Selvin's paper, took the opportunity of extending a cordial invitation to all delegates to visit the northwest metropolis on their way home from the convention.

Mr. Selvin advised in his address that the realty men of the country in a great campaign of education to drive home to the public the fact that real estate, wisely purchased, is the safest of all investments. He declared that that time had come to differentiate once and for all between investments and speculations, and condemned unapologetically the agent who sells a man "and above all a woman"—a piece of property as an investment, knowing at the time it is nothing but a speculation.

The question of standardizing all legal forms used in real estate transactions was discussed at length by General Counsel MacChesney of the national association, under the head, "Uniform Legal Blanks." Mr. MacChesney also urged the advantage of having uniform laws in relation to real estate in the different States of the Union. Such a standardizing of laws and documents, he declared, would save time and trouble for realty men everywhere. "If the O.K. of the national association was on every document," he said, "clients would be less suspicious of legal forms generally, and would be willing to sign papers without going through the trouble of calling in attorneys every time they entered into a deal."

ON ADVERTISING.
One of the best papers of the convention to date was the address on "Advertising," prepared by L. D. Woodward of Rochester, N. Y., chairman of the association's special committee on advertising. The paper was read by Executive Secretary Ingersoll, owing to the inability of Mr. Woodward to be present. The Rochester man condemned fraudulent advertising in scathing terms, and predicted that the time would soon come when those deliberately misrepresenting property for sale would come under the universal ban of the law. The evidence of successful advertising was also considered in all its phases.

Before the opening of the programme, President Shalcross announced two of the committees appointed for next year. Those named for the Nominating Committee were C. F. Harrison, Omaha; John W. Dean, Memphis; D. P. Cooke, Portland; and Samuel Collier, Seattle. The following were put on the Committee of Resolutions: W. H. Dyer, Cincinnati; J. C. Bradway, Detroit; C. J. Officer, Council Bluffs; V. F. Boor, Kansas City; C. M. McDonald, St. Louis; F. A. Myers, Philadelphia, and L. E. Fisher, Denver.

Telegrams of greeting were read from the American Civic Association, through Richard B. Weston, secretary, and from George A. Metcalf, president of the Winnipeg Real Estate Exchange.

Optimism.

Desert to Eden.

pace with the times, the pride of all Ohio, that through 113 years of uninterrupted progress stands pre-eminent for many things, was the theme of the winner's discourse. He pointed with pride to the fact that its manufactured products totaled the immense value of $175,000,000 last year; that it had been chosen as the Federal reserve banking center for the Fourth United States District; that its home districts were a tribute to the unflinching optimism and progressive nature of its real estate men with their foresight for subdivision, and that the population now has reached the 700,000 mark.

The first speaker, called by George F. Custer, father of the contest idea and chairman of the event, was E. C. Hoffman of Denver, the queen city of the Rocky Mountains, the gateway of the West, with its eighteen railroads, its fine highways and other favorable environments. "The United States government has declared that we have at our doors more radius of water supply is unlimited; our air is the purest, and our death rate one of the lowest in America," concluding, he facetiously suggested that there were more rich widows in Denver than could be claimed anywhere else.

Charles Mayer pointed to Cincinnati as the only city in America owning its own railroad, 113 miles in length, bringing it income not only sufficient to pay all the interest on the bonds, but a surplus of $540,000 annually. He referred to its new $400,000 municipal hospital and its twenty-seven breweries. Stanley Starling of Minneapolis suggested that Minneapolis should be known not only for its flouring mills and grain elevators, but for having the only great retail shopping street in America without a surface car; its 4000 acres of parks; its annual bank clearings of $1,375,000,000; its art gallery and museum.

FOR OAKLAND.
"To My City, Oakland," was the address presented by a resident of that city, who declared this community the "Athens of America," and one having all of California's advantages. As a gateway to the Orient, with its commercial possibilities of the future; as a growing manufacturing center, and one of the finest handiworks of God and man, he declared Oakland supreme.

Making the commercial advantages of Indianapolis only an item in the greatness of the community, Scott Brewer declared that his town had wrested the literary supremacy from Boston, and that its men of letters, James Whitcomb Riley, Booth Tarkington and numerous others, had made the word "hoosier" an appellation of appreciation for merit. He declared the city the hub of Indiana, the whirl of the automobile world and topographer in that industry were it not for the fact that Henry Ford has his plant in Detroit, and, finally, the most American of all American cities.

KANSAS CITY.
From the trading post to the most beautifully-planned and laid-out city in America is the way H. R. Anderson set forth the merits of Kansas City, "the heart of America." He declared that the most efficient railroad terminal system in this country was here found. C. F. Harrison stole the thunder of many communities by declaring that Omaha, his home town, bought the automobiles; made possible the terminals, received the shipments of manufacturing centers and did it all through its alfalfa, grain and cattle. "We are not quite as strong as Los Angeles in its economic backing, perhaps, I having been told in answer to my query ten years ago while on a visit here that it had the whole United States back of it."

The judging required only a few moments on the part of the awarding committee, and, after a graceful speech of acceptance, expressing no personal gratification, but pleasure because it was possible to do Cleveland proud, Mr. Taylor concluded the programme.

Last night the entire contingent of visitors, as well as many local operators, were guests at the special performance of "The Mission Play," which depicted to them the foundation of all realty values in this State. The unique playhouse at San Gabriel housed a capacity audience.

DEATH OF MRS. ROGERS.
Many Southern California friends will be pained to learn of the death in Peoria, Ill., of Mrs. James T. Rogers last Friday. Beside her husband, Herbert D. Rogers of Lewistown, Ill., Charles O. Rogers of Indianapolis and Mrs. J. L. Bickford of Hollywood, sons and daughter, mourn her loss.

She was also the mother of the late Harry J. Rogers of Redlands. Mrs. Rogers was much interested in the Peoria Y.W.C.A., a member of the board of managers which raised the money necessary to build and equip the building, and up to the time of her death took an active part in this work.

"DRY" FORCES TALK RECALL.

Good Templars Start Attack on Commissioners.

Granting of Liquor License Starts the Trouble.

Fire Chief Admonished for Brusque Conduct.

PARADISE, June 22.—Because the Pasadena City Commissioners are charged with having reversed their policy when they recently granted a liquor license to a place which had been cited for violation of the law they are threatened with recall proceedings.

The Pasadena Lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars filed the protest with the Commissioners yesterday, and charges that in granting the liquor permit the Commission is following a vicious practice which will surely result in demoralization and contempt of law.

The note of protest was not addressed to Commissioner Creller, but included the names of the other four—Commissioners Salisbury, Hamilton, Loughery and Allen. Because of this it was at first suggested by Mr. Salisbury that the communication be referred to Mr. Creller, but instead it will fall upon Chairman Hamilton for reply.

Chairman Hamilton declared that the Commission had not reversed its policy on liquor licenses. He further stated that the protestants had acted without investigating, and that the situation should be made clear to them.

Commissioner Allen did not relish the threat of the recall contained in the note, but it did not seem to worry Chairman Hamilton, who declared that before a recall election could be launched it must be proved that the Commissioners had acted so as to encourage lax enforcement of the law. He further states that when the Commissioners gave the liquor license conditions had changed; that the place in question was under new management.

The protestants declare that in the instance cited the case is particularly aggravated, because several permits on the same premises have previously been granted and revoked for cause.

They further point out the fact that Los Angeles, with its 294 saloons, does not grant licenses upon premises where convictions have occurred.

The Good Templars' leaders are the father of the first ordinance of this city as well as of the State.

CHIEF ADMONISHED.
Declaring that because a conviction would be a bad thing for the city and would handicap the Chief in the performance of duty and would impair the efficiency of the fire department, Deputy District Attorney Powell did not ask the conviction of Fire Chief Clifford, who was charged with battery by former Fire Commissioner Medill.

The case was dismissed, with an admonition from Judge McDonald that in the future Chief Clifford must not use his knee in hitting or resort to other means of force in ejecting spectators at fires.

The testimony of the defendant was not heard, but Judge McDonald declared that from the evidence he thought the Fire Chief had exceeded his authority when he forcibly ejected Mr. Medill from the fire lines recently.

The Chief is said not to have asked Mr. Medill to leave the scene of fire.

but to have seized him and forcibly moved him without warning.

CITY BRIEFS.
The hospitality offered here to 1000 delegates to the national real estate convention in Los Angeles was accepted only by about fifty persons.

They were so much impressed with the Crown City that it is expected large crowds will be here Thursday and Friday, when the business of the convention will have been largely completed. Those fifty here yesterday were refreshed with punch in the Busch gardens, where they received post card views of Pasadena.

The call to nature and the swimming pool was so great in the small Mexican boys of the South Raymond school district that they appropriated the new wading pool, where they proceeded to enjoy their plunge dressed in nothing but a cheery grin. Because of their longing for a plunge the Board of Education has not only allowed them the use of the place, but authorized the building of a dressing room on the grounds, as well.

The Good Templars' leaders are the father of the first ordinance of this city as well as of the State.

Five Sick Probably Because Poison was Borne from a Fly Trap.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SANTA BARBARA, June 22.—A mysterious case of what seems to be arsenic poisoning from a bottle of milk, to which one man and four children fell victims at the Borden Hotel on the City Hall Plaza, is being investigated by Health Officer Winchester, who attended the victims.

Dr. Winchester can account for the arsenic only by the chance that arsenic fly poison, which is used in solution in mowers, might have not only landed in the milk, but the doctor is investigating the case and all evidence remaining to find some clue to the mysterious poisoning.

The man poisoned is Joe Bonilla and the children are John, Josephine, Catherine and Martin Anchordouy, children of the Anchordouy family, four children are 1 year old, 6, 8 and 2 respectively.

PARK COMMISSION OUT;
CITY IS MUCH AROUSED.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

ONTARIO, June 22.—A distinct surprise, following their action of two weeks ago in not only refusing to accept the tendered resignation of members of the City Park Commission, but in praising their work highly, was the action of the City Council last night in not only accepting their resignations, but in abolishing the commission entirely and turning its duties over to the street department.

The Council's action appears to have been met with general disfavor. Members of the erstwhile commission declare their resignations were tendered on account of a feeling that the Council was not in sympathy with their work and with the idea of allowing the board to be named to name whom they chose to the commission. Practically all expressed willingness to continue on the commission, if it was felt they were wanted.

They declare, however, that in their

LONG BEACH, June 22.—Gov. George W. Clarke of Iowa, in a speech delivered here this afternoon, credited Iowa with California. He said that Iowa was responsible for the amazing development of this section. He even expressed himself as satisfied that the glorious climate of Southern California was made and maintained by genial sons of old Iowa.

Gov. Clarke, Mrs. Clarke, their daughter, Miss Frances Clarke, and Congressman C. W. Ramsayer and wife were entertained at lunch at Hotel Virginia and later taken for a ride about the harbor. The head of the Iowa government is on his way to the San Francisco exposition, where he will speak on Iowa Day, next Friday.

Acknowledging the fact that a remarkable exodus had taken place from his State to California in the past decade, Gov. Clarke said, in part: "Iowa, however, has wonderful recuperative powers. We came right back and raised the biggest corn crop in the history of the State. Iowa never disappoints its people."

"California has acknowledged the part that Iowa has taken in the upbuilding of this great State. I have never seen such development as here in Southern California, and I know Iowa is mainly responsible for it. The money and brains of Iowa have

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CRAFTON, June 22.—Despite the efforts of a collie dog to save him, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Willis of Walnut avenue was drowned in the canal, the main irrigation stream from the mountains, this afternoon. The dog and the baby were inseparable companions, and when the dog came home alone dripping wet and barking frantically, the mother knew what had happened.

Scores of men were soon running along the banks of the stream, and the body of the child was found soon a short distance below the house. The body was rushed to the Redlands Hospital in the automobile of William Paine, but all efforts at resuscitation were futile. Before the body was found a message had been sent to Redlands, three miles away, and business men there went out to search the stream, which runs through the heart of the business section and under buildings.

Referring to the international situation, Gov. Clarke said the moral strength of the United States, which has been proved greater than the Kaiser's guns and England's navy, will be called upon eventually to settle the greatest conflict of history.

ABOUT DOGS.

Although City Health Officer Taylor says there is not a dog in Long Beach afflicted with rabies, to the best of his knowledge, the City Council is preparing for passage at their next meeting an ordinance providing for the establishment of a quarantine against dogs. This measure will give the police power to enforce the muzzling law already passed.

Women who have been forced to put muzzles on their pets have been writing scathing letters to Dr. Taylor and to other city officials, condemning the muzzling ordinance, but the officials propose to protect the lives of the children and keep on capturing or shooting unmuzzled canines. "The life of one child is worth more than all the dogs on earth," said Dr. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor says the State Board of Health officials were in error when they stated that dogs in Long Beach had rabies. He says the two dogs that had the disease have been killed. He merely asked permission of the State health authorities to continue the muzzling of dogs, he says.

For the third time in eight months Mrs. C. H. Miller, 70, No. 817 Fourth street, has disappeared. Her husband reported her last disappearance to the police today. Mrs. Miller last was seen on the morning of the 16th inst., and has not been heard from since. Mr. Miller is at a loss to explain why his spouse left.

BEAN GROWERS SUSPEND.

Suspension of business for one year was the decision of the stockholders of the Lima Bean Growers' Association at a special meeting held yesterday to determine the future policy of the association. Charles Dondon, president of the association, said: "The members dislike very much to discontinue the association and at this time would not listen to a proposition for dissolution in the hope that growers enough might give it their support and that it might not be necessary to go to the expense of dissolving. However, they decided to suspend operations for the coming year, unless the required 50,000 acres should be subscribed. At present this does not seem probable."

been busy making a decent living and minding their own business. Reared on a farm and worked his way through college; admitted to the bar, but I believe never practiced law; handsome among the best masculine lines, and so big in form that at first sight you would think of a sure White Hope if Jess Willard had not already turned the trick. Two terms in the Ohio Legislature, and author of one of the best laws ever passed in the State, the Willis taxation law, that relieved thousands of poor from taxation burdens. Two terms in Congress, and never missed a roll call of his House unless on regular leave. Never dodged a vote nor paired, and voted right on canal tolls, and I believe on all other questions. Is sound on liquor, tariff, peace and suffrage questions. Carried his district against Bull Moose and all comers through the stump of 1912, and wrenched Ohio from the Democracy last year.

He has made a bully Governor without being a bully. A man with a punch instead of a paunch. Never mixed up with big business, corporations or labor troubles, and is open-minded as to all of them. He is to the farmers "a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night" that they follow. Never self-seeking (and I am sure he would berate me for writing this.) Now I am not boasting anyone in fact, everything that interests you Slope people must be big. So just look Willis over and hear him grate. You will agree with me that he comes from the big timber. He is going to the exposition, I believe, to dedicate the Ohio Building. Mrs. Willis, I know, is with him.

Gov. Willis had to leave Mansfield, O., yesterday, and will follow this

CANFIELD CASE
BEFORE JUDGE.

At the Courthouse.

FORGED DEED, IMPERSONATION ARE ALLEGED.

Owing to absence of material witness trial is postponed until first week in August—One link in identification chain is forged. Other things.

A deal in property in which a forged deed is alleged to have figured and the proposition of connecting Leonard C. Canfield, as Helmer E. Rabild, who received $4750 in the transaction, is the setting for an interesting civil suit which came on for trial before Judge Works yesterday.

Owing to the absence of a material witness, the case was continued until August 6. The action was brought by George W. Brown against Mr. Canfield to recover money paid for property subsequently discovered to have been owned by Martin L. Kelsey.

How the mysterious Helmer E. Rabild is alleged to have engineered a deal was outlined yesterday by Attorney Goodwin in the examination of witnesses. Mr. Canfield was brought over from the County Jail, where he was recently committed after his conviction on the charge of forgery, in Judge Craig's court. Argument for a new trial was heard yesterday.

Through Attorney Paul Schenck he denies that he ever masqueraded as Helmer E. Rabild, and is fighting Mr. Brown's claim on the ground of mistaken identity.

It is alleged, as the theory of the plaintiff, that Mr. Canfield, as Helmer E. Rabild, forged a deed to Mr. Kelsey's property in the name of Rabild. The deed was recorded and later destroyed. Representing himself to be Rabild, it is alleged that Mr. Canfield opened negotiations with Mr. Brown solely by correspondence for the purchase of the property. The price was agreed upon and instructions were put up with the Title Insurance & Trust Company. The property was deeded to Mr. Brown and the trust company sent a check for $4750 to Mr. Rabild, addressed to a postoffice box at Monrovia.

The checks were put through a Monrovia bank for collection. Subsequently it is alleged that Mr. Canfield, still posing as Rabild, opened an account at the Commercial American Bank. One link in the chain of identification was forged yesterday when W. M. Shivers, a teller, identified Mr. Canfield in court as Rabild, or the man who had opened the account at the German American Bank.

Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, testified that the handwriting on the deed to Mr. Brown and the writing on the original instructions to the trust company signed by Rabild were the same as those appearing on the checks signed by Rabild.

SAYS HE HAS HER LINGERIE.

Franklin, who has $3000 worth of silver in three trunks pledged to Rev. James L. Myers and his wife, Mrs. Lottie K. Myers, for a debt of $184, and when she tendered payment on the 5th inst., she alleges that the minister and his wife refused to accept the money. In order to obtain possession she brought suit yesterday against the Myers asking judgment for $3000, reciting in detail the contents of the three trunks.

The array set out would make most women envious. Her lingerie she values at $300; one set of fur, $150; four dresses ranging in value from $25 to $55; $21 worth of shoes; three dozen pairs of stockings, $20; and ten hand-painted and embroidered pillow tops, $140.

WANT IT BACK.

COUPLE SUE COMPANY.

Francisco, who is $122 in the purchase of 6000 shares of the American Holding Company, drawing their savings from the bank on what they alleged in a suit filed against the corporation and other defendants was misrepresented. Now they want the sale rescinded, the stock cancelled and their money returned. The action came on before Judge Hewitt for trial yesterday.

Mrs. Farrar testified that they were led to believe that the corporation had a patented railway stop indicator; that 24,000 shares of stock had been sold at 12 1/2 cents a share, and from the proceeds a factory to manufacture the indicator would be erected at Richmond, this State; that the corporation was solvent and in good financial condition and that none of the directors were to receive salary until the corporation was on a paying basis.

Believing they had a good thing the Farrars speculated on their future prospects. But along about the middle of 1915, they claim that they discovered that the corporation had not acquired the exclusive right to the patent and had not sold 24,000 shares of stock, and that the concern was insolvent. The directors named as defendants are George Buttress, Robert H. Gilmore, James W. Hanna, Clinton E. Dawson and John M. Fisher. The corporation, through Attorney Emmet H. Wilson, denies that any misrepresentation was made.

TO FIRST LOVE.

ASSERTS SECOND WIFE.

A suit for separate maintenance filed by Mrs. Velma M. Conger against A. N. Conger yesterday reverses the old saying, "off with the old, on with the new." In this case Mrs. Conger asserts that her husband has abandoned her for his first wife, Helen M. Conger of No. 1014 Milan avenue, South Pasadena.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Conger was divorced from Helen M. Conger in Minnesota November 23, 1911. He married Velma M. Conger in Detroit August 12, 1912, and the former says he deserted her December 31, 1914. She declares that he is residing with his former wife at her South Pasadena home. Whatever allowance the court makes on the trial of the action, Mrs. Conger asks that it be made a lien on $10,000 worth of property Mr. Conger owns in Erie county, New York.

GETS DIVORCE.

SKIPS FOR THE NORTH.

Mrs. Myrtle F. Putnam, the woman who is not afraid admitted in Judge Wood's court yesterday that just one man inspires her with fear and that man is her husband, Lee S. Putnam. In a corroborated statement, Bailie W. T. Woods, was called in her divorce suit before Judge Wood yesterday, to testify that he had gone to the Putnam home to quell a disturbance.

A deputy sheriff told me to wing him," testified Mrs. Putnam, and that she had nearly done so was shown by the fact that when Mr. Putnam endeavored to break down the door of their home with a shovel she fired at him through the door. Judge Wood granted her a decree, and like flash, the woman who is not afraid few cut of the courtroom, who shot down in elevator and hopping into an automobile waiting for her, she pulled out to San Francisco with five passengers on one of her regular bus trips.

UP TO THE LIMIT FOR FREE RIDES.

At the City Hall.

RAILWAY COMPANY DRAWS LINE IN NEW FRANCHISES.

Revolution Providing for Joint Committee to Formulate Plan for Consolidating Municipal and County Charity Activities is Passed by City Council.

The limit on free transportation for city employees has been reached and hereafter the Los Angeles Railway Corporation will bid on no franchise with additional free transportation classes. This information was given by the City Council yesterday by a representative of the company, who said that the city now gets $200,000 a year in free street car rides. The question came up on the city's offer to sell a franchise in Evergreen, Wabash and Brooklyn avenue in which there was a provision that nurses employed by the health department should be carried free. The free rides were eliminated by the Council and the franchise offered in amended form. Bids for the franchise will be opened July 7.

The City Attorney was instructed to prepare notices of sale of the South Park-avenue Electric Railway franchise from Jefferson street to Blauson avenue in one proceeding and from Blauson avenue to Florence avenue in another proceeding. The street railway company has indicated that it will bid for a franchise only as far south as Blauson avenue.

Councilman Conwell's resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three to confer with a like committee representing the county on plans for consolidating the city and county charity work was adopted by the Council yesterday. Councilman Belkouski reported that he had been informed that the county is willing to meet the city half way on the proposition. The committee will be named by President Whiffen today.

The ordinance for paving Seventh street to Boyle avenue was ordered withheld by the Council yesterday pending completion of plans for the Seventh-street viaduct. The resolution carried with it an order to the street department to keep the street in passable shape in the meantime.

A request from the Board of Censors for assignment of quarters in the old Normal School building was referred to the playgrounds department for selection of rooms and the Building Inspector and City Electrician were asked to prepare estimates of cost for arranging the rooms where the films will be projected before the censors.

Another $10,000 dip was made into the city's reserve fund by the Council yesterday to tide over the remaining ten days of the fiscal year.

WHO IS BOSS?

INSPECTOR QUARREL.

Internal strife in the Humana Animal Commission which so far has amounted to a quarrel among the inspectors, yesterday afternoon the Public Welfare Committee of the Council yesterday but Chairman Wheeler told the Commission that he had trouble with the inspectors and accepted no more. The result was a decision on the part of the Commission to hold a public hearing to determine whether one or all of the three inspectors should be fired in the interest of harmony. The inspectors involved are H. S. Fowler, Walter Nanny and Charles C. Bryan. Fowler is senior inspector, although all are of equal nominal rank. The other two complain that Fowler is dictatorial, officious, incompetent and several other things. The date for a public hearing will be set by the Humana Animal Commission in the near future.

STAY OF EXECUTION.

PREPARE GRANTED PALMS.

Stay of execution was granted the much-discussed and often "cursed" palms on the business streets yesterday when the 1915 General Committee officially notified the Board of Public Works that the trees will be allowed to remain until early in 1916. The palms and boxes on the narrow side streets will disappear within the next few days and the committee also decided that after the parade season vines shall be planted in the boxes. In the meantime, the park department will be required to care for the palms and a request from the 1915 General Committee for an appropriation of $1500 to meet the expense of caring for the palms was referred to the Budget Committee.

FOR CHILDS SUPPORT.

Meadows sues football player.

Meadows, a football player, was made defendant in a suit filed by Edith McLain yesterday for the support of her daughter, Rush A. McLain, 3 years old. She alleges that she made a demand on Mr. Meadows and that he refused to contribute to the support of the baby. An allowance of $30 a month is sought by her.

A deputy sheriff told me to wing him," testified Mrs. Putnam, and that she had nearly done so was shown by the fact that when Mr. Putnam endeavored to break down the door of their home with a shovel she fired at him through the door. Judge Wood granted her a decree, and like flash, the woman who is not afraid few cut of the courtroom, who shot down in elevator and hopping into an automobile waiting for her, she pulled out to San Francisco with five passengers on one of her regular bus trips.

Revolution Providing for Joint Committee to Formulate Plan for Consolidating Municipal and County Charity Activities is Passed by City Council.

The limit on free transportation for city employees has been reached and hereafter the Los Angeles Railway Corporation will bid on no franchise with additional free transportation classes. This information was given by the City Council yesterday by a representative of the company, who said that the city now gets $200,000 a year in free street car rides. The question came up on the city's offer to sell a franchise in Evergreen, Wabash and Brooklyn avenue in which there was a provision that nurses employed by the health department should be carried free. The free rides were eliminated by the Council and the franchise offered in amended form. Bids for the franchise will be opened July 7.

The City Attorney was instructed to prepare notices of sale of the South Park-avenue Electric Railway franchise from Jefferson street to Blauson avenue in one proceeding and from Blauson avenue to Florence avenue in another proceeding. The street railway company has indicated that it will bid for a franchise only as far south as Blauson avenue.

Councilman Conwell's resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three to confer with a like committee representing the county on plans for consolidating the city and county charity work was adopted by the Council yesterday. Councilman Belkouski reported that he had been informed that the county is willing to meet the city half way on the proposition. The committee will be named by President Whiffen today.

The ordinance for paving Seventh street to Boyle avenue was ordered withheld by the Council yesterday pending completion of plans for the Seventh-street viaduct. The resolution carried with it an order to the street department to keep the street in passable shape in the meantime.

A request from the Board of Censors for assignment of quarters in the old Normal School building was referred to the playgrounds department for selection of rooms and the Building Inspector and City Electrician were asked to prepare estimates of cost for arranging the rooms where the films will be projected before the censors.

Another $10,000 dip was made into the city's reserve fund by the Council yesterday to tide over the remaining ten days of the fiscal year.

The result was a decision on the part of the Commission to hold a public hearing to determine whether one or all of the three inspectors should be fired in the interest of harmony. The inspectors involved are H. S. Fowler, Walter Nanny and Charles C. Bryan. Fowler is senior inspector, although all are of equal nominal rank. The other two complain that Fowler is dictatorial, officious, incompetent and several other things. The date for a public hearing will be set by the Humana Animal Commission in the near future.

PREPARE GRANTED PALMS.

Stay of execution was granted the much-discussed and often "cursed" palms on the business streets yesterday when the 1915 General Committee officially notified the Board of Public Works that the trees will be allowed to remain until early in 1916. The palms and boxes on the narrow side streets will disappear within the next few days and the committee also decided that after the parade season vines shall be planted in the boxes. In the meantime, the park department will be required to care for the palms and a request from the 1915 General Committee for an appropriation of $1500 to meet the expense of caring for the palms was referred to the Budget Committee.

Meadows, a football player, was made defendant in a suit filed by Edith McLain yesterday for the support of her daughter, Rush A. McLain, 3 years old. Francisco, who is $122 in the purchase of 6000 shares of the American Holding Company, drawing their savings from the bank on what they alleged in a suit filed against the corporation and other defendants was misrepresented. Now they want the sale rescinded, the stock cancelled and their money returned. The action came on before Judge Hewitt for trial yesterday.

Mrs. Farrar testified that they were led to believe that the corporation had a patented railway stop indicator; that 24,000 shares of stock had been sold at 12 1/2 cents a share, and from the proceeds a factory to manufacture the indicator would be erected at Richmond, this State; that the corporation was solvent and in good financial condition and that none of the directors were to receive salary until the corporation was on a paying basis.

Believing they had a good thing the Farrars speculated on their future prospects. But along about the middle of 1915, they claim that they discovered that the corporation had not acquired the exclusive right to the patent and had not sold 24,000 shares of stock, and that the concern was insolvent. The directors named as defendants are George Buttress, Robert H. Gilmore, James W. Hanna, Clinton E. Dawson and John M. Fisher. The corporation, through Attorney Emmet H. Wilson, denies that any misrepresentation was made.

A suit for separate maintenance filed by Mrs. Velma M. Conger against A. N. Conger yesterday reverses the old saying, "off with the old, on with the new." In this case Mrs. Conger asserts that her husband has abandoned her for his first wife, Helen M. Conger of No. 1014 Milan avenue, South Pasadena.

The complaint alleges that Mr. Conger was divorced from Helen M. Conger in Minnesota November 23, 1911. He married Velma M. Conger in Detroit August 12, 1912, and the former says he deserted her December 31, 1914. She declares that he is residing with his former wife at her South Pasadena home. # AT THE STAGE DOOR

Billie Watches.
Billie Burke visited the Lasky company yesterday and watched Geraldine Farrar and M. Cordova film one of the thrilling scenes of Miss Farrar's first picture.

Asked whether she would ever appear in pictures, Miss Burke said she thought not.

"Why, I'd just be imitating myself, wouldn't I?" she laughed.

Miss Burke.
Miss Burke has a pet dog named Ziggy.

"He leads an unhappy existence, worried as an overcoat in our trips across country," laughed Miss Burke. "You see he strenuously objects to the dog-suit in the baggage car, so I carry him with me wrapped up, during periods of official inspection, in an innocent-looking overcoat."

New Film.

Mr. Brian will appear in a film version of Harold McGrath's "Voice in the Fog."

Face Cards.
Geraldine Farrar is in receipt of an autographed photograph from Miss Sarah Bernhardt, taken immediately on her release from the hospital, where she had her leg amputated.

"You see," she writes Miss Farrar, "I thought of you first of all."

Divine Sarah.
Miss Sarah Bernhardt's close friends state that the reason for the noted actress's resuming the stage is not a whim, but stern necessity. The truth is that the great artist has been so conscious with her fortune, toward war sufferers and toward actors thrown out of work on account of the war, that her wealth has been draining away.

New "Case."
"The Case of Becky," Frances Starr's success, is being filmed by the Lasky company, with Blanche Sweet, Carlyle Blackwell and Theodore Roberts in the leading roles.

Even He Knew.
One of Havermann's lions let out a roar back of the stage, the other night, when Nat Williams was telling one of his jokes.

Nat turned around and said, politely: "Far be it from me to quarrel with the taste of a great of your strength," he apostrophized the lion. "I withdraw that one. I admit, my dear fellow, it's of ancient vintage."

It Doesn't Happen.
As the lady ballroom dancer who doesn't wear the "castile clip," the modern play without the telephone.

The monologue artist who doesn't say, "Take your time," when his jokes take fire.

A sketch artist who hasn't written a war drama.

Comic opera adventures in short dresses.

A new comic opera joke.

Not a Life Line.
You ought to see "The Arab" at Tully's. There isn't a single telephone in it.

Cobb, Too.
Though his name doesn't appear in the cast of characters, the world-famous humorist and war correspondent, Irvin Cobb, plays a small part in "The Arab," being shown at Tully's this week. He plays the part of an American tourist who has employed as dragoman the young Shiek Jamil, and is shown, making Jamil for his services and supplying him with a recommendation. Here is the recommendation, written by Cobb himself:

"To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the bearer, Jamil Abdulah Asam, is the finest little liar in a country of liars. We earnestly recommend him to those who, like ourselves, enjoy being humked and desire nothing more of this country than that which fills the eye."

Jamil takes pride in showing this paper to the Christian girl with whom he falls in love, as evidence of his superlative virtues. And by the by, Cobb admits having given virtually that very letter to a valet-ventured son of the prophet who personally conducted the big humorist through Arabia.

New Play.
"Kindling" is the play which will follow "The Elsie of Youth" at the Burbank. Marjorie Rameau will play the leading role.

Like It.
Bill Rock is designing the bathing costumes for the chorus of "No Long Letty," shortly to be put on at the Morocco. He says that anybody that wants his job can't have it.

No Long Letty.
Rehearsals for "No Long Letty," the musical comedy which will be put on at the Morocco Theater on July 5, are proceeding apace. A whole flock of rooms in the Burbank Building are resounding with "prop" mirth and joy. Manager Morocco, George Laake and Elmer Harris are taking the principals over the burles in one room and in another room Bill Rock is making life miserable for a group of sonics.

Too.
S. P. Lee and Madeline Lee are putting on a little musical comedy that's full of snap, at the Regal this week.

Good for James.
James Neil has sold one of the photoplays staged by his pupils recently.

Over Corner Stuff.
Harry Belting, playing at the Hippodrome this week, is a Los Angeles boy, and a graduate of Los Angeles High School. He has been holding innumerable receptions after every show.

"By the sea, by the sea"

The "splish me" girls give a bit of the summertime atmosphere to "This Way Out," the Kolb and Dill musical show, at the Maroon Theater this week. To the right is Nana Bryant, who is starring with the famous laugh-givers.

COLLEGE STARS ARE TO PLAY WITH BIG LEAGUES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
NEW YORK, June 22.—John McGraw has borrowed a page from Connie Mack's book, and the New York scouts are combing the ranks of the collegians rather than the bushes for new material. McGraw realizes that his veteran machine is very much in need of an infusion of young blood, and he has come to believe that the varsity teams are producing just the kind of stuff he is seeking.

Last week McGraw signed Frank Carroll, the Fordham third baseman, who is also after Johnny Reilly, the Yale infielder, whose hitting and all-around work has, for several years, been the sensation of the college world. He is understood also to have made an offer to Harry Le Gore, the Eli shortstop, but Le Gore is not likely to hasten to any offers until he is graduated.

Within the past week McGraw's agents have signed four more college stars—Charles Wasmuth, the Dartmouth catcher; Workman, the Leland Stanford pitcher; Herb Hunter, outfielder of Lindsay Institute, Wheeling, W. Va.; and Babington, Brown infielder.

Wasmuth is one of the best backstops yet developed in varsity ranks, and is hitting for about .350. He will join the Giants on June 23. Workman is the college sensation of the Pacific Coast, and McGraw has several been the sensation of the college hurler. Hunter is from Boston and will join the Giants at Pittsburgh on Thursday. Babington was much sought by big league clubs.

The college scene has this year been unusually prolific of likely big leaguers. Watt, the Columbia second baseman, has been offered a berth by several clubs, including the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he refuses to turn professional until he is through with his college course.

Big Ed Walsh, the veteran pitcher of the White Sox, has been looking the rah-rah boys over, and he asserted the other day that he had recommended quite a batch of collegians as worthy of a trial. Among the pitchers who looked good to the veteran were Crowell of Brown, who has signed with the Athletics; Bryant, Cornell; War of Yale, and Cram of Brown, who has signed with the Braves.

The infielders recommended by Walsh were Melton, Cornell, third baseman; Gill of Princeton, babington of Brown, Nash of Harvard, Reilly and Le Gore of Yale, and Leach, the scout ranked Brown as the best college aggregation in the East.

Rah! Rah!
Kane and Spencer were both hitting with tremendous ease. Johnny got three singles and a walk, while Tub tossed the ball for two doubles and a single.

Burns started the second in a unique manner by making Berger. He then changed his tactics and walked Kane, Haseberg sacrificed. A walk to Furtell, put three on. Gleichmann counted two of them with a single in center. Gasoline Gus forced the Gasoline Gus, and Tub emptied an easy grounder down to McMillen. Reilly's single and a two-base splash by Tub gave the Tigers their final in the seventh.

McMillen smacked Reilly for a single with one gone in the first. He was doubled off when Reilly rushed in and picked off Wolter's short fly.

DOUBLED UP.
The next hit of Reilly was accomplished by Maguire in the fourth. A beautifully placed single by McMillen put Mag on third, and he scored on Wolter's single to K. Reilly from out on a blistering liner from Koerner's bat, and doubled Mac at first.

Five Runs in First.

than anticipated. It cracked ominously several times, but the bailing wire held, and there was no sign of a complete collapse. Hitting a shoulder socket was also working better than when he was here the last time. The hot box has cooled down to about 90 in the shade, which is about normal. However, Doc is keeping a can of axle grease in reserve for use in case the joint gets to smoking again.

But there is no end to Doc's troubles. No sooner are Gus and Rhine strong again than Ellis Johnson runs on the hog. Johnson strained a ligament in his neck spitting on the ball in Salt Lake. It is so high and dry in Salt Lake, that only by great effort can a pitcher arouse enough spit to dampen the sphere.

LITTLE KERRIE.
Zeb was not able to be in the game. He hurt one of his legs while playing with his new roller coaster, and it was deemed best for him to sit around and let the leg recuperate. This gave Al Bumiller a chance to get out and enjoy the limelight. Athletes require a little limelight, just as flowers must have sunlight. If denied these things, the flower withers and curls up, and the athlete becomes fat and soggy.

Things started off with an air of earnestly. Cackles popping to McMillen. Then something out of the ordinary happened. Berger batted a fly to left center, and Maguire snuffed it. Joe reached second, thereby demonstrating the value of running "en out." This started something that no one could stop until ten guys had batted.

THEY'RE OFF.
Kane soaked a single to left, and Joe scored. Haseberg jugged, but it is not certain that he could have nailed Berger anyway. Haseberg singled over second, and Kane went to third. Furtell backed Bumiller up with an infield hit, scoring Kane and putting the Terrible Swede on second. The latter took a big lead, and Boies shot through to Bumiller to find out about it. Haseberg beat him right along to third, sliding under Al's throw. Scooby fanned Gleichmann. The Terrible Swede then scored on a fourth strike by Furtell, beating McMillen's return which was both late and high. Scooby walked Hitting. That was his finish. Ryan went in to left center, and Maguire snuffed it. Joe reached second, thereby demonstrating the value of running "en out." This started something that no one could stop until ten guys had batted.

TRANSFER OF CLUB DELAYED

There was no word yesterday morning as to whether the transfer of the club from the Giants to the Athletics will be completed today. President Maguire is in San Francisco, and as he will be in the city until tomorrow, no action can be taken before that time. When Major returned from his trip from Darmstadt, the action taken by the club relative to the transfer will then be in a position to make an announcement. It is regarded as probable that the club will be transferred within a short time.

POOR WAY FOR HOSTS TO ACT

Managers of five visiting teams have complained of the condition of the clubhouse for visiting players at the Polo Grounds and President Turner of the National League has made representations to the New York Club concerning the complaint. A new clubhouse was built for the Giants, but an old shack was left for the use of visiting teams.

SLOWNESS IN BASE RUNNING IS FAULT

According to one New York critic, nothing is operating so much against the success of the Giants as their slowness in base running. Two years ago speed was their asset, but this year they are showing poorly in that department. The absence of speed, the slowing up of Doyle and the same case of being account for this in part.

FIRST BASING FOR OTTUM

Manager George B. Satterlee would like to turn to his first baseman, but he has no one to turn to. Satterlee would like to turn to his first baseman, but he has no one to turn to. Satterlee would like to turn to his first baseman, but he has no one to turn to.

DOUBLED UP

The next hit of Reilly was accomplished by Maguire in the fourth. A beautifully placed single by McMillen put Mag on third, and he scored on Wolter's single to K. Reilly from out on a blistering liner from Koerner's bat, and doubled Mac at first.
